Subject: Two things
It seems that Jeremy has a lead which he thought might be in the HSCA files on MLK. The name is Raoul Coehlo. He asked if I would ask you to look it up in the MLK card file. I mentioned to him that this presents a real access problem if you find anything on this guy. He said if you don't feel comfortable even looking in the card file, then you shouldn't do it. Apparently this Raoul Coehlo person might have been investigated by the HSCA on the King assassination, and may have had contact with the one and only Jack Ruby (and the HSCA didn't know it). My guess is that this is a lead that someone gave him at the C.O.P.A. convention this past weekend, and he just wants to check it out. On the employment front, David said that we probably would not hire Christine for an analyst position because she doesn't have a background in history, intelligence, law, etc... But that there are some support positions which we are trying to fill. I would counsel against taking such a job, but she should feel free to call me or even David Marwell or Tracy Shycoff at our number to talk about it.
