Bill: We have a number of documents ready for review (Kevin estimates 10 inches). In addition, the laptop has arrived, and you could take advantage of the time for some computer training. David To: David_marwell @ jfk-arrb.gov @ internetcc: David Marwell/ARRB) From: wljoyce @ firestone.Princeton.EDU ("William L. Joyce") @ Internet @ WORLDCOM Date: 10/23/96 09:08:28 AM CDT Subject: varia Begin forwarded message: David: I'll TRY to be here by 11 for the conference call, but I may be delayed a few minutes... Did you get my message, as below? I'll need to take some action concerning #2 in any case, so perhaps you can let me know? Bill Date: Fri, 18 Oct 96 16:06:18 EDT From: wljoyce (To: david_marwell@jfk-arrb.gov) To: david_marwell@jfk-arrb.gov Subject: varia David: 1) I sent you a copy of my recent correspondence with Max Holland about the CIA referrals from the Johnson Library. I asked Jeremy about them, and he confirmed that the CIA has not yet responded, and Steve Tilley said the same thing. Steve thought a well-placed query from the CIA team might produce reliable information about the CIA thinking on these files, if not produce direct action. While I don't think Max Holland's research should drive our activity, perhaps an inquiry as to the status of the documents might not be amiss. What do you think? 2) I had made some time ago a provisional appt. at the Commission on Preservation and Access/Council on Library Resources during the time of our next meeting in Washington. Will there be enough documents to review to warrant my coming to Washington? Is there anything else that I might do, either for you or the staff, besides document review if I do come? (Of course, if my computer were to come in, I guess that Chet could help me get going with it.) I don't see Anna, Henry, and I conducting a meeting, and I don't want to force matters, if it would be better not to come. What do you think? I guess we'll talk next week. Bill
