Subject: Re: JFK Ass. Records Act - How to Adress the

Dear Mr. Eichener:I have found out some additional information about your request. The rifle is a model 91/38, not Fucile M 1938. Based on Robert Frazier's testimony before the Warren Commission, he inferred that information from the Italian Armed Forces Intelligence Service (SIFAR) conatins an explanation about 1) the rebarreling of the weapon from 7.35 mm to 6.5 mm and/or 2) an explanation for the markings on the weapon.You may want to, for reference, check Warren Commission volume XXIV which contains the exhibits. On page 2, exhibit 1977, there is a memo dated March 17, 1964, in which a confidential overseas source provides information about the markings and numbers of shipments of model 91/38 rifles.Again, if I find any more information, such as if documents related to this issue are open/postponed, I will contact you. I hope this information is helpful to you.Sincerely,Eileen A. Records Act - How to Adress theLadies and Gentlemen:Please allow me to inquire about a specific piece of information.What I am curious about is a tidbit of information to whichFrazier in his testimony before the Warren Commission alluded.The Italian military intelligence service had given some informationabout the Fucile M 1938, but at that time it was classified as"secret". I suppose that 32 years and the evolution of militaryweaponry have made this classification obsolete (maybe it was already lifted before).Could someone tell me if this dossier is open already, or howa researcher would proceed to have it de-classified ?Sincerely,Alexander EichenerFriedrich-Ebert-Anlage 64D-69117 HeidelbergGERMANYEmail: c96@oink.rhein.de
