Subject: Re: Next Week's Meeting

Anna:1. As I said last meeting, there would be few, if any, documents ready for review by January 8. The LBJ Library is sending the unredacted documents for which they are seeking postponements. They have not arrived.2. As you know, discussions leading to a decision whether to seek additional time would be appropriate only in an open meeting. I had originally scheduled that meeting for December 17 and was asked to reschedule it. I then scheduled it for January 9th, and was again asked to reschedule it since the Board wished to have a better idea about a possible Congressional reaction to a request for extension. The purpose of the proposed meeting for this week is to provide a better perspective on that question.

There is not much that is controversial, as I recall. At the last meeting our discussion centered on whether or not there was any support for another year from various agencies, congress, etc. Don't you think we should take some time to decided whether we wish to continue even if we saw some support? There are ramifications of a fourth year we might want to consider. If nothing else expectations of what we can accomplish will be much greater. And, of course, do we want to spend the time & energy it will require to gain that extra year. I would like for you to set aside some time for us to discuss pros and cons and, in general, trade views. Anna
