Subject: Re: USSS Jan 31 letter

I agree with Jeremy that we should commend the Secret Service for their efforts reported in the January 31, 1997 letter. Regarding the transcripts, they should be examined to determine whether they contain any information not contained in the printed record (or the Warren Commission copy). To: Jeremy Gunn/ARRBcc: David Marwell/ARRB, Ron Haron/ARRBFrom: Joan Zimmerman/ARRBDate: 02/03/97 09:32:13 AMSubject: Re: USSS Jan 31 letterBefore we rush to thank the Secret Service in this manner, we might consider the fact that John Machado still has not provided any of the material he said he would provide when I spoke with him on January 24, 1997. When the Review Board designates the material an "assassination record," we can thank them for drawing it to our attention. Some of it seems to be White House Detail material to which my list of boxes to search directed them. The rest of the material appears to be the first information from a field office we have seen. This may be the result of the initial compliance letter Ron sent in November. With regard to the transcripts, we should examine everything the Service is willing to show us. I showed Ron and David the final paragraph regarding the Secret Service compliance statement on Friday afternoon. I spoke with John Machado briefly as he was walking out, and he said that Vezeris's mother had been sick. Vezeris has been in and out of the office over the past couple of weeks. She had wanted to send us their statement of compliance by last Friday but was unable to finish reviewing John's draft of it. I think we should thank USSS for forwarding documents and let them know that the Board (presumably) will be designating them ARs. 2. I don't think that we need the deposition transcripts -- provided we have reviewed them to make sure that they are identical to the published versions. If they have any handwritten notes or vary from the published texts, they should be ARs. 3. Ron: note they say they will have their compliance statement in two weeks.
