Subject: Re: Possible visit dates

Body:
I vote yes on the week of May 18-24. (But are you really interested in reviewing thousands records that the FBI long ago designated "Not Assassination Related" and that probably really are not, in fact, assassination related, but just need our blessing?)I defer to Brian if he has HSCA things that he needs you to work on, but I hope you can join us at the Bureau!What do you think, David?To:Brian, Lauracc: From:Joseph Freeman/ARRB   Date:04/18/97 11:07:54 AMSubject:Possible visit datesHaving discussed the matter with Carolyn, the week of May 18-24 would probably be the best upcoming week for me to come to D.C. to do Review Board work, if it is desired that I do so. I'd be happy to come if there is genuine need (not to mention how nice it would be to see everyone), but have no desire to drain the agency's resources in the absence of such a need. What with plane ticket, lodgings and all (though I think I could do the lodgings more cheaply than last time...), it's beyond me why David/Jeremy would want to even consider it, but the call is theirs, and yours.On a lighter and far more delightful note, I offer a bag of pretzels (or perhaps M&Ms) if either of you can identify the source of the following:I sit beside the fire and think   of people long ago,and people who will see a world   that I shall never know.But all the while I sit and think   of times there were before,I listen for returning feet   and voices at the door.Clue #1 -- the author is/was not an Irish person Clue #2 - from the same source comes the more famous lines:All that is gold does not glitter,Not all those who wander are lost.The old that is strong does not wither,Deep roots are not reached by the frost.
