I'll think about New Orlean-related issues and let you know. One person that immediately came to mind when you mentioned New Orleans was Ed Butler! I had a lengthy and convoluted conversation with him when I was in New Orleans last August and I have written him several letters and called him numerous times in an effort to follow up on our conversation, but has has not returned any of my calls or letters. He definitely has a lot of assassination records -- I've seen some of them & he claims to have many more in the INCA offices. Are you interested in trying to meet with him? If so, I can tell you more about it by telephone and give you copies of our correspondence.Thanks, also, for the good wishes for wedding planning. The guest list goes to the calligrapher with the invitations tomorrow, so I guess we really ARE getting married. Eeeek! :-)To:Laura Denk/ARRBcc:From:Tom Samoluk/ARRBDate:05/08/97 01:30:38 PMSubject: Re: Sorry ...Thank you for the clarification. By the way, since I will probably pass through New Orleans within the next month in pursuit of the Shaw papers, is there anything that needs to be done in the Big Easy on your end of things?TomP.S. I hope all is going well with the wedding. Whatever is happening, hang in there. It will be a great day.To:Tom Samoluk/ARRBcc: From:Laura Denk/ARRB Date:05/08/97 12:23:28 PMSubject:Sorry ...I was just referring to the first story that led us down the Clay-Shaw-diary trail. You were still here and I was still sitting in the old office back in those olden days. (I may have some yellowed Polaroids from back then.) I remember talking to you about it the day that the MCC guys told me about it.
