

NR_key_name: A5F1D4BC7F7F7DE98525655B0060EA91

SendTo: CN=Laura Denk/O=ARRB

CopyTo:

DisplayBlindCopyTo:

BlindCopyTo:

From: CN=Joseph Freeman/O=ARRB

DisplayFromDomain:

DisplayDate: 11/26/1997

DisplayDate_Time: 12:50:09 PM

ComposedDate: 11/26/1997

ComposedDate_Time: 12:38:35 PM

Subject: Re: races and furniture

I'm sorry I e-mailed you first, but I have too much time on my hands and you are my favorite e-mail companion, so there it is! But it's not a contest -- honest. Congrats to Colleen -- a Running Goddess! A lesson in humility for the rest of us on one level (the wrong one), but just really neat and cool on another (the right one). And hurrah on the couch! A long search successfully completed! How was Othello and Patrick Stewart? I would like the lentil/chestnut roulade recipe (though I/Todd won't get to it this week, so please don't hurry on it). I may even try and make it myself. Or, I may ask Todd to give it a try. Or, I may pass it on to one of my sisters for Christmas (despite my protestations -- more or less genuine -- that they don't need to go to a lot of extra vegetarian trouble for my visits home to Ligonier, one in particular -- Meg -- always does, and would probably welcome a sure-fire hit like the roulade...). No need to respond to this today, I'm sure folks are trying to get out of the office ASAP. It was nice hearing your voice yesterday (though the charge that I am plotting to get out of return visits to DC is patently false, as you know very well). A wonderful Thanksgiving to you and Jon and Wren, and I will keep you posted on puppy news as it happens (I talked at length to the breeder last night and we pick up Finn this afternoon at 5:00 PM). By the way, one of the two kibbles they recommend is that IAMS one you mentioned.

Body:

recstat: Record

DeliveryPriority: N

DeliveryReport: B

ReturnReceipt:

Categories: