Subject: Re: DIA Compliance
 Now, if you want Jeremy to add any statements to the letter this is the time for you to let him know.

 Doug -- This is completely your decision. I still think a phone call in this situation would be reasonable and also courteous. A phone call and putting things in writing, on the record, are not mutually exclusive and can both be utilized, but again it's your decision. As for the letter, could you add, in the part dealing with the Compliance Statement, that we want DIA to put in writing that the Final Declaration must be submitted under oath under 28 U.S.C. 1746.--Ron

 I am not calling Anne Winner on matters involving tutorial instruction, or deadlines. That will all be in our letter. Whatever I have told her in the past has either been misunderstood, or has gone in one ear and out the other. What is in writing from this agency is all that matters, henceforth--and only written products will protect us, by providing an accurate and unambiguous record of what direction we have provided. Telephone conversations between government officials are over-rated in value, because both sides can represent them in any way one wishes, and there is too much room for misunderstanding. That is my position. I will speak to her on the phone if she has a technical question which she raises with me directly, such as how to obtain RIF software, or how to create RIFs.  Doug -- How and when you respond is up to you. I just wanted you to have the benefit of Anne Winner's message -- I can play it for you if you want. My only suggestion would be to call her and tell her what she can do to begin processing the documents (e.g., we can at least tell her that she should get copies of the documents to us so we can refer them to CIA or military agencies as appropriate). That way, she can't claim she is waiting on us to give her direction.--Ron

 I started the letter Friday, and am about 25% completed with it. I will get it to Jeremy as soon as I can for his review, emendation, and signature. I expect that will be this afternoon. I will not let an agency which has dragged its feet dictate to me any deadline whatsoever. If we get it out today, fine. If its tomorrow, that's also fine. It is DIA which must comply with the JFK Act, not the ARRB with DIA's internal political problems.
