Bill, Thanks for your message. FYI, your e-mail did not arrive at our office until 6:30 p.m., 3 1/2 hours after you sent it and only shortly after I sent the e-mail on today's call. Your tickets should be in the FedEx package. See you on Monday.

Jeremy: My apologies for missing last week's call, and my thanks for your rapidly produced and informative summary of it. I expect to be here for today's call! (Will you mention to Tracy that my train tix still have not arrived? Thanks.) See you in a few days.

>>1. Kim is now on the staff and is working out very well.

>>2. Tom and I met with Chairman Burton's staffers. They were interested and helpful. They wanted to know, with specificity, where we are experiencing problems. They offered to have the Chairman write letters to appropriate agencies. They accepted our offer to let us write the drafts of the letters to some of the departments. It was a positive meeting. The only question they asked about the Z-film is whether the public has access to it. Following the meeting, I called Pereira and advised him what had happened. He thanked me for the notice and said that he may be able to use the event to help him get the additional staff he needs. He does not know that I will be drafting the letter from Burton to Ex Dir Carey at CIA.

>>3. Annapolis is on schedule. I am urging everyone to dress casually. The restaurants are very good and I think it will be a good experience.

>>4. I discussed the problems we have been having with the Sixth Floor Museum. I just sent them a letter asking that they provide us with a complete and up-to-date inventory and an explanation of their policies on making information available to the public. I think we should request subpoenas be issued by DOJ. I will go ahead with this plan and keep you advised.

>>Talk to you next week.
