 If we had unlimited time and resources, it would be nice. Because such questions have such a low probability of producing useful information, I think we should forego. What do you think?

 As you will read in Scott's message, he mainly wants us to contact a bunch of former FBI agents and ask them if they've ever heard of or seen references to "Harvey Lee." We did ask Hosty about it (tape side 12 @ 34 minutes). Scott says he would be willing to track down phone numbers, etc... Do you think we ought to call all of these agents and ask about "Harvey Lee?"

 Dear Laura Denk
 With my house in great turmoil, and my office almost unusable, I have been regrettably slow in getting back to you. I return now to the anomaly of unexplained "Harvey Lee Oswald" references in FBI (and other agency) records. The easiest explanation for these widespread references is the existence of archetypal sources not yet in the public domain, which you should try to get if possible. If they no longer exist (which is possible), then I hope you will request or try to establish records pertaining to their disappearance. I am glad to note that the ARRB has been willing to interview former FBI agents; it would I think be appropriate to do so with respect to "Harvey Lee Oswald" records. I attach a partial FBI list of such "HLO" references, exclusive of the Mexico situation we discussed, which is excerpted from a fuller list from all sources which goes back to 1951. (I assume you already have the full list, but would be happy to email it again if you wish.) With respect to the Mexico HLO messages from Howard D. Wesley, there was until recently a telephone listing for a "Howard D. Wesley, Sr.," at 9508 Franklin Ave., Lanham Seabrook, Maryland, tele-phone no. 301-577-3135. You will note that (as in the case of Mexico), most of the HLO references come from out-of-the-mainstream FBI posts like Tampa, or Mobile, or Bern Switzerland. I have never seen a single HLO reference in the voluminous records from the Dallas FBI, even though they occur in the records of the Dallas Secret Service, and the Dallas Police. With this in mind, I draw your attention to the first item in the list, which is Robert Oswald's account of his first FBI interview after the assassination. According to him, the interviewing agent said, "Is your brother's name Lee Harvey Oswald or Harvey Lee Oswald?... We have it here as Harvey Lee." I would invite you to ask Robert Oswald about this, and particularly for him to identify the FBI agent who interviewed him. If (as I suspect) he does not cooperate, you
