Subject: Re: Bad FBI News
 Bill, we look forward to your visit tomorrow. Your plan sounds good. The meeting went very well on Capitol Hill. I will be preparing an e-mail for the Board shortly. I will include the details there. Best, Jeremy

 Jeremy: This is a truly appalling development, the more so for the truly inchoate nature of the FBI's behavior! I frankly don't believe that David and Jack were told anything of the sort, and, as you point out, they never objected when we stated our goals for the final year. Nor did they ever write us! I hope your meeting with Burton's staff went well today, and that this may motivate the FBI to reconsider their situation... I hope that we might discuss this tomorrow. My plan for tomorrow is to show the flag by visiting with a few staff on a more or less random basis, hang out in what I think of as Jack's office and hope that there may be staff who might want to discuss their job futures, their current work (to help me understand better what they do), and then join me for a very informal bag lunch to discuss whatever... How does that sound? I hope that my visit might contribute in some small way to a growing perception that the Board (or at least parts of it!) cares about them and their work! Let me know when it might be convenient for us to chat as well... See you tomorrow,
 Bill

I said that if this step were to be taken, we would want to vote on the least sensitive records and spend our time reviewing the more sensitive records on a document-by-document basis. She agreed that we should attempt to prioritize.>> Laura
