Subject: Re: job stuff

I tried to find you, but you were apparently diligently at work. I would be pleased to talk to you about this. I won't be in on Wednesday, but we can talk on Thursday or Friday.

I have avoided coming to see you regarding future employment as I feel I have not focused my search, nor do I really know in what direction to focus my search. Laura suggested I come speak with you about my ideas as she said that you may be able to help me focus. I have two broad areas of interest: intelligence within government and helping people in the community. So far that is as narrow as I have gotten. However, I can tell you what I don't want to do. I was also talking to Laura about a book I am reading by Stephen Carter on religion and politics. Since it is an area I have ongoing interest in, she thought I ought to discuss this with you; first because you are currently conducting research in this area and know a lot about the subject, and secondly because you may have some ideas if there are jobs in this area that incorporate religion and politics. I know that you are extremely busy, but if you have any time to talk later this week, I would greatly appreciate it.
