Subject: Re: Odds and Ends

Joe --We can't wait to see you. We have a big project that we're working on at FBI (you know about it but I can't write it on the e-mail) and, if you wouldn't mind, it would be great if you could just work on it, too! I love the idea of a "canine citizenship" test and I have no doubt that any dog of yours will pass with flying colors. Good luck!On another note, I was walking by the Olsson's/Metro Center last night and saw that Nick Hornby will be at that Olsson's signing books in a couple of weeks. They had a picture of him in the window and he looks nothing like he should. He actually looks (in the picture at least) not unlike James Carville. Which is weird, I think. I had him pegged as a "long-haired" Beatle-lookin' guy. Oh well.To:Kevin, Lauracc:From:Joseph Freeman/ARRB Date:05/20/98 06:09:19 PMSubject:Odds and EndsKevin: today's (Wednesday's) NYTimes had a piece on one of the Stanley Brothers. Let me know if you'd like me to save it. Keep your fingers crossed for the Irish referendums on Friday...Laura: Reminding you to remind Debbie that I'll be over there Tuesday morning, doing whatever it is I'll be doing, assuming you still need/want me to do anything (it's not too late for you to back out, as long as I have lunch with you guys...). Is there any way you can email me in advance as to what the project is (so I can head straight over on Tuesday) or should I talk to you or Kevin before going over?Kevin/Laura: tomorrow AM I'll be getting in the car to make the 7 hr. trip to LA for my Dylan/Morrison/Mitchell concert; will probably drive back at the close of concert, but in any case will be out of commission until sometime Friday morning; that's why I'm emailing you now.Finn's final class/canine citizenship test is tonight. I'm tense about passing, and have been trying to psyche Finn up all day be calling her "Citizen Finn." Can't tell if it's working...
