Subject: Re: what up

I also am balancing the demands of a sisters wedding this weekend. My oldest sister Laurie is getting married outside of Baltimore this weekend and I am trying to find her a gift, get my dress hemmed, find sandals and countless other items. The 13th and 14th I am going to the Tibetan Freedom concert all weekend but maybe sometime in the following weeks we can get together. Life is going well I accepted an associate consultant position at EDS in their Government consulting division with a 25 percent raise. I start June 22nd and I am looking forward to it. I enjoy working with the government but being independent and looking in from the outside. After working with the FBI I have witnessed the government at its worse. How it can take 60 people to process what three of us review and even then they can't keep up is inconceivable to me. The only thing I am not looking forward to is the hours. The up side of working with classified documents is that you can't take it home and I never work more than forty hours a week. I'm still planning ahead for the future I got my GRE's back and did well and I am planning to take the LSAT's in January. So how is life treating you? How long are you going to be stationed in Baltimore, how is work and how is the social life (i.e. possible love life)? Have you been back to Loudoun recently? Here is the gossip I can think of Kelly Erickson is in the airforce and is training to be an airtraffic controller, Casey Krouse is in graduate school for family counseling, Rob Carey and Clayton are still in school ( now there is a surprise) and Zander landed a job with a landscape architectural firm, Justin Bell is still looking for a job in D.C. or New York. Well I hope all is well and that your brothers wedding goes well. Take Care@Carrie
