

NR_key_name: 6805980B0157124D8525663200751E84
SendTo: John Witte <jwitte @ law.emory.edu> @ INTERNET @ INTERLIANT
CopyTo: ljackson @ law.emory.edu;jnicho @ law.emory.edu
DisplayBlindCopyTo:
BlindCopyTo: CN=R ecord/O=ARRB
From: CN=Jeremy Gunn/O=ARRB
DisplayFromDomain:
DisplayDate: 06/29/1998
DisplayDate_Time: 5:20:09 PM
ComposedDate: 06/29/1998
ComposedDate_Time: 5:19:15 PM
Subject: Re:

John, Thanks for your message. I will of course review the ms. promptly. Hey, who needs footnotes anyway? Best, Jeremy
To: Jeremy Gunn <Jeremy_Gunn @ jfk-arrrb.gov>cc: ljackson @ law.emory.edu, jnicho @ law.emory.edu (bcc: Jeremy Gunn/ARRB)From: John Witte <jwitte @ law.emory.edu> @ INTERNET @ INTERLIANT Date: 06/29/98 09:06:37 PM GMTSubject: Dear Jeremy: As we discussed, I am preparing a truncated version of your excellent article on the 1997 law for the anthology that Michael Bourdeaux and I are coediting. Our publisher has set a strict limit of 350 pages of printed text for the volume, and we are trying to harvest the best articles in excerpted form from the EILR special issue, plus new material that Michael Bourdeaux and his colleagues have assembled. My editing preserves virtually all of your text, with a few asides about the European Court truncated or deleted. It makes most of the cuts in the notes, eliminating explanatory footnotes or long string cites that are not crucial to your argument. For a law review, this material is critical; for a humanities text it will be viewed largely as clutter, and thus I have pruned much of it out. Later this week, my secretary, Louise Jackson will be federal expressing the edited text for your review and correction. Could I ask you to go through the ms. carefully, make any and all final corrections and edits, do any updating based on what you have read to date of the regulations, especially, and get it to back us - either annotated or by an errata sheet. We would like to get this back as soon as you can so that we can get the ms. off to the publisher. Eventually, this volume will also be published in Russian translation. Your article was one of the strongest in the EILR special issue, and the chapter, even truncated, will have the same status in the anthology. I appreciate you're peeking at it one more time. Blessings on you and your family. John Witte, Jr.

Body:
recstat: Record
DeliveryPriority: N
DeliveryReport: B
ReturnReceipt:
Categories: