Subject: Re: Image: Photography and Beauty

We will be staying in Philly or somewhere nearby. What I mean is I'll be staying at my mother's Friday and Saturday nights, and Hyunsook and her mother will stay together at a yet to be determined hotel for those nights. I should let you know that things are falling into place. I have lined up the cake (unfortunately Stocks is on vacation) and the flowers. The dry cleaner got the stain out of my niece's wedding dress. It should be beautiful. The tux is rented. The Horticultural Center said OK. Kevin has taken the bull by the horns for the food. Hyunsook and I made the invitations on the computer and mailed them on Monday night. The celebrant is not yet a definite. I didn't have the nerve to contact the mayor, but I have very interesting party lined up who said yes- schedule permitting. I'll leave the identity as a surprise. If this doesn't pan out, Yerkies wedding service and another wedding service suggested no scheduling problems, so they stand as readily available alternatives. My mother is getting a little less negative, but my uncle is still being totally bizarre. Anything you might be able to find out would be greatly appreciated. I think that you are right that e-mail is probably the better form of communication. You can send it to the office or to my home. (If you send it to my home, please don't mention anything about my mother's or uncle's strange reactions. I'm used to them, but Hyunsook is still sensitive and worried about them.) C Ya. As far as hair and make-up - will you two be staying Philly? And remeber that we're talking about Sunday here, so you might have to hire one on an hourly basis, but let's cross that bridge when we come to it. I'll call my aunt who live in Philly and ask a friend that I trust in the office if they can offer a suggestion and get back to you either by phone or e-mail, which seems to be the better form of communicatio for me since I seem to be at me desk more than anly place else. Hugs and kisses! We had hoped that my niece could help but her wedding photographer was lousy and she had a friend do her hair and make-up. Kevin told me that you called and offered assistance. Thanks. C Ya. P.S. I talked to Kim. She is home until the end of this week, then she's off to Florida to work on her thesis. (Florida?) You might give her a call if you get chance.
