If you or anyone else thinks that you are being deprived of pages, you will be wrong. We have everything under control. Eileen Sullivan

Eileen, I'm told by Debra Conway that you are trying to reduce the number of pages. Why, if they are 3,500 then that's what they are. The board has released hundreds of thousands of pages, why worry over page numbers for the depositions? The only reason I can see is the work you or someone would have to do in processing this for release. But as you are getting KINKO'S to do the actual copying for those that order, this really shouldn't be too much of a problem. Anyway, I wish you, or whomever is making this decision, wouldn't as now some will think they are being deprived of a page or pages that contain the really important material. I can understand quite well that you would want to reduce your considerable workload but I think you are setting yourself up for trouble. I hope you will consider this as constructive criticism. It's not meant with any mean spiritedness at all. Joe
