

Possible JFK Records Formerly in Custody of Richard Case Nagell

Item

Location

Polaroid picture of himself and Oswald in Jackson Square, N.O. taken in SEP 63 (Russell, page 58)

In a bank vault in Switzerland (exact location of city and name of bank unknown)

Audiotape recording of Oswald, two Cuban exile co-conspirators, and Nagell himself, taped surreptitiously in late AUG 63 (Russell, page 58)

Unknown; however, Nagell has stated that he has made arrangements for this evidence, and more, to surface after his death

Copies of letters sent to numerous Government officials and members of Congress, including FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover circa SEP 63, a CIA official in SEP 63, Senator Richard Russell, Congressman Don Edwards, the Warren Commission, and the House Select Committee on Assassinations; and copies of letters to relatives and personal acquaintances (Russell, pages 58-59)

Nagell himself frequently bragged of his careful record-keeping of both copies of personal letters and mail receipts; it is reasonable to assume that some, or many of these items may have been in his lodgings, or that perhaps clues as to where they are located may be in his lodgings or amongst his possessions

A footlocker was known to exist circa 1965 at the house of his half-sister, Eleanore Gambert (now deceased), which reportedly contained photographs, audio tape recordings, and documents which would clearly be classified today as "assassination records"

As of 1992, her second husband, Louis Gambert of Tarpon Springs, FLA was 88 years old, and had two sons who were also aware of the footlocker: Robert (then 62) and Roger (then 54). Present whereabouts of this footlocker and/or the material in it is unknown. Following an FBI visit to view the contents of this locker in the summer of 1965, a break-in occurred and some of the contents of the footlocker were stolen.
