I spoke this morning with Tony Coppelino of the DOJ about the Zaporuder matter and the recent letter from James Silverberg. Unfortunately, Coppelino is unable to meet with Jack and me this afternoon since he is prepping for an important oral argument. He did indicate that he is not certain who in Justice will handle the law suit that he is certain will follow. Should the cause of action be a Tort claim, Jeffrey Axelrod of the Torts Division would be likely. A taking action would likely be handled by Kurt Manhardt of the Commercial Litigation unit of the Civil Division.

Coppelino suggested that we would have to wait until the complaint was filed.
