

Assassination Records Review Board

600 E Street NW ▪ 2nd Floor ▪ Washington, DC 20530

March 28, 1995

Deane J. Allen
Historian
Defense Intelligence Agency
Washington, DC 20301

Dear Mr. Allen:

In 1992, Congress enacted the JFK Records Collection Act for the purpose of gathering in the National Archives all records relating to the assassination of President Kennedy. (I am enclosing a copy of the statute.) The statute created an Assassination Records Review Board to oversee the records collection process, to review records collected by federal agencies, and to identify additional records that relate to the assassination of the President.

Because of your role as a historian with the Defense Intelligence Agency, our staff would very much like to discuss with you the types of records that were originally generated in the 1960s and the location of those records today.

Either I or Jeremy Gunn of my staff will be in touch with you in the near future to set up a time that will be mutually convenient for discussing such records. I look forward to making your acquaintance.

Sincerely yours,

David G. Marwell
Executive Director

cc: Jeremy Gunn

enclosure

Assassination Records Review Board

600 E Street NW ▪ 2nd Floor ▪ Washington, DC 20530

March 28, 1995

Steven Dick
Historian
Dept. of the Navy--Naval Observatory
34th and Massachusetts Ave., NW
Washington, DC 20390

Dear Mr. Dick:

In 1992, Congress enacted the JFK Records Collection Act for the purpose of gathering in the National Archives all records relating to the assassination of President Kennedy. (I am enclosing a copy of the statute.) The statute created an Assassination Records Review Board to oversee the records collection process, to review records collected by federal agencies, and to identify additional records that relate to the assassination of the President.

Because of your role as a historian with the Department of the Navy, our staff would very much like to discuss with you the types of records that were originally generated in the 1960s and the location of those records today.

Either I or Jeremy Gunn of my staff will be in touch with you in the near future to set up a time that will be mutually convenient for discussing such records. I look forward to making your acquaintance.

Sincerely yours,

David G. Marwell
Executive Director

cc: Jeremy Gunn

enclosure

Assassination Records Review Board

600 E Street NW ▪ 2nd Floor ▪ Washington, DC 20530

March 28, 1995

Alfred Goldberg
Historian
Office of the Secretary of Defense
5C328, The Pentagon
Washington, DC 20041-0498

Dear Dr. Goldberg:

In 1992, Congress enacted the JFK Records Collection Act for the purpose of gathering in the National Archives all records relating to the assassination of President Kennedy. (I am enclosing a copy of the statute.) The statute created an Assassination Records Review Board to oversee the records collection process, to review records collected by federal agencies, and to identify additional records that relate to the assassination of the President.

Because of your role as a historian with the Office of the Secretary of Defense, our staff would very much like to discuss with you the types of records that were originally generated in the 1960s and the location of those records today.

Either I or Jeremy Gunn of my staff will be in touch with you in the near future to set up a time that will be mutually convenient for discussing such records. I look forward to making your acquaintance.

Sincerely yours,

David G. Marwell
Executive Director

cc: Jeremy Gunn

enclosure

Assassination Records Review Board

600 E Street NW ▪ 2nd Floor ▪ Washington, DC 20530

March 28, 1995

Judson MacLaury
Historian
Office of the Asst. Secretary for Policy
Department of Labor
Washington, DC 20210

Dear Mr. MacLaury:

In 1992, Congress enacted the JFK Records Collection Act for the purpose of gathering in the National Archives all records relating to the assassination of President Kennedy. (I am enclosing a copy of the statute.) The statute created an Assassination Records Review Board to oversee the records collection process, to review records collected by federal agencies, and to identify additional records that relate to the assassination of the President.

Because of your role as a historian with the Office of the Assistant Secretary for Policy, our staff would very much like to discuss with you the types of records that were originally generated in the 1960s and the location of those records today.

Either I or Jeremy Gunn of my staff will be in touch with you in the near future to set up a time that will be mutually convenient for discussing such records. I look forward to making your acquaintance.

Sincerely yours,

David G. Marwell
Executive Director

cc: Jeremy Gunn

enclosure

Assassination Records Review Board

600 E Street NW ▪ 2nd Floor ▪ Washington, DC 20530

March 28, 1995

J. Kenneth McDonald
Chief Historian
Central Intelligence Agency
316 Ames
Washington, DC 20505

Dear Dr. McDonald:

In 1992, Congress enacted the JFK Records Collection Act for the purpose of gathering in the National Archives all records relating to the assassination of President Kennedy. (I am enclosing a copy of the statute.) The statute created an Assassination Records Review Board to oversee the records collection process, to review records collected by federal agencies, and to identify additional records that relate to the assassination of the President.

Because of your role as a historian with the Central Intelligence Agency, our staff would very much like to discuss with you the types of records that were originally generated in the 1960s and the location of those records today.

Either I or Jeremy Gunn of my staff will be in touch with you in the near future to set up a time that will be mutually convenient for discussing such records. I look forward to making your acquaintance.

Sincerely yours,

David G. Marwell
Executive Director

cc: Jeremy Gunn

enclosure

Assassination Records Review Board

600 E Street NW ▪ 2nd Floor ▪ Washington, DC 20530

March 28, 1995

Harold W. Nelson
Chief of Military History
U.S. Army Center of Military History
1099 14th Street, NW
Washington, DC 20005-3402

Dear Mr. Nelson:

In 1992, Congress enacted the JFK Records Collection Act for the purpose of gathering in the National Archives all records relating to the assassination of President Kennedy. (I am enclosing a copy of the statute.) The statute created an Assassination Records Review Board to oversee the records collection process, to review records collected by federal agencies, and to identify additional records that relate to the assassination of the President.

Because of your role as a historian with the U.S. Army Center of Military History, our staff would very much like to discuss with you the types of records that were originally generated in the 1960s and the location of those records today.

Either I or Jeremy Gunn of my staff will be in touch with you in the near future to set up a time that will be mutually convenient for discussing such records. I look forward to making your acquaintance.

Sincerely yours,

David G. Marwell
Executive Director

cc: Jeremy Gunn

enclosure

Assassination Records Review Board

600 E Street NW ▪ 2nd Floor ▪ Washington, DC 20530

March 28, 1995

Edwin H. Simmons
Director
Marine Corps History & Museums
Building 58, Washington Navy Yard
Washington, DC 20374

Dear Mr. Simmons:

In 1992, Congress enacted the JFK Records Collection Act for the purpose of gathering in the National Archives all records relating to the assassination of President Kennedy. (I am enclosing a copy of the statute.) The statute created an Assassination Records Review Board to oversee the records collection process, to review records collected by federal agencies, and to identify additional records that relate to the assassination of the President.

Because of your role as a historian with the Marine Corps History & Museums, our staff would very much like to discuss with you the types of records that were originally generated in the 1960s and the location of those records today.

Either I or Jeremy Gunn of my staff will be in touch with you in the near future to set up a time that will be mutually convenient for discussing such records. I look forward to making your acquaintance.

Sincerely yours,

David G. Marwell
Executive Director

cc: Jeremy Gunn

enclosure

Assassination Records Review Board

600 E Street NW ▪ 2nd Floor ▪ Washington, DC 20530

March 28, 1995

Walter Poole
Historian
Historical Division
Joint Chiefs of Staff
Washington, DC 20301

Dear Dr. Poole:

In 1992, Congress enacted the JFK Records Collection Act for the purpose of gathering in the National Archives all records relating to the assassination of President Kennedy. (I am enclosing a copy of the statute.) The statute created an Assassination Records Review Board to oversee the records collection process, to review records collected by federal agencies, and to identify additional records that relate to the assassination of the President.

Because of your role as a historian with the Historical Division, our staff would very much like to discuss with you the types of records that were originally generated in the 1960s and the location of those records today.

Either I or Jeremy Gunn of my staff will be in touch with you in the near future to set up a time that will be mutually convenient for discussing such records. I look forward to making your acquaintance.

Sincerely yours,

David G. Marwell
Executive Director

cc: Jeremy Gunn

enclosure

Assassination Records Review Board

600 E Street NW ▪ 2nd Floor ▪ Washington, DC 20530

March 28, 1995

Richard P. Hallion
Director
Center for Air Force History
Building 5681, Bolling Air Force Base
Washington, DC 20332-6098

Dear Dr. Hallion:

In 1992, Congress enacted the JFK Records Collection Act for the purpose of gathering in the National Archives all records relating to the assassination of President Kennedy. (I am enclosing a copy of the statute.) The statute created an Assassination Records Review Board to oversee the records collection process, to review records collected by federal agencies, and to identify additional records that relate to the assassination of the President.

Because of your role as a historian with the Center for Air Force History, our staff would very much like to discuss with you the types of records that were originally generated in the 1960s and the location of those records today.

Either I or Jeremy Gunn of my staff will be in touch with you in the near future to set up a time that will be mutually convenient for discussing such records. I look forward to making your acquaintance.

Sincerely yours,

David G. Marwell
Executive Director

cc: Jeremy Gunn

enclosure

Assassination Records Review Board

600 E Street NW ▪ 2nd Floor ▪ Washington, DC 20530

March 28, 1995

Elizabeth A. Berrio
Director, Historical Reference Library
Immigration and Naturalization Service
425 I Street, NW
Washington, DC 20536

Dear Ms. Berrio:

In 1992, Congress enacted the JFK Records Collection Act for the purpose of gathering in the National Archives all records relating to the assassination of President Kennedy. (I am enclosing a copy of the statute.) The statute created an Assassination Records Review Board to oversee the records collection process, to review records collected by federal agencies, and to identify additional records that relate to the assassination of the President.

Because of your role as a historian with the Immigration and Naturalization Service, our staff would very much like to discuss with you the types of records that were originally generated in the 1960s and the location of those records today.

Either I or Jeremy Gunn of my staff will be in touch with you in the near future to set up a time that will be mutually convenient for discussing such records. I look forward to making your acquaintance.

Sincerely yours,

David G. Marwell
Executive Director

cc: Jeremy Gunn

enclosure

Assassination Records Review Board

600 E Street NW ▪ 2nd Floor ▪ Washington, DC 20530

March 28, 1995

Jan K. Herman
Historian
Bureau of Medicine and Surgery
2300 E Street
Washington, DC 20372

Dear Ms. Herman:

In 1992, Congress enacted the JFK Records Collection Act for the purpose of gathering in the National Archives all records relating to the assassination of President Kennedy. (I am enclosing a copy of the statute.) The statute created an Assassination Records Review Board to oversee the records collection process, to review records collected by federal agencies, and to identify additional records that relate to the assassination of the President.

Because of your role as a historian with the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, our staff would very much like to discuss with you the types of records that were originally generated in the 1960s and the location of those records today.

Either I or Jeremy Gunn of my staff will be in touch with you in the near future to set up a time that will be mutually convenient for discussing such records. I look forward to making your acquaintance.

Sincerely yours,

David G. Marwell
Executive Director

cc: Jeremy Gunn

enclosure

Assassination Records Review Board

600 E Street NW ▪ 2nd Floor ▪ Washington, DC 20530

March 28, 1995

Edward S. Darke
Historian
Center for Naval Analysis
4401 Ford Avenue
Alexandria, VA 22302

Dear Mr. Darke:

In 1992, Congress enacted the JFK Records Collection Act for the purpose of gathering in the National Archives all records relating to the assassination of President Kennedy. (I am enclosing a copy of the statute.) The statute created an Assassination Records Review Board to oversee the records collection process, to review records collected by federal agencies, and to identify additional records that relate to the assassination of the President.

Because of your role as a historian with the Center for Naval Analysis, our staff would very much like to discuss with you the types of records that were originally generated in the 1960s and the location of those records today.

Either I or Jeremy Gunn of my staff will be in touch with you in the near future to set up a time that will be mutually convenient for discussing such records. I look forward to making your acquaintance.

Sincerely yours,

David G. Marwell
Executive Director

cc: Jeremy Gunn

enclosure

Assassination Records Review Board

600 E Street NW ▪ 2nd Floor ▪ Washington, DC 20530

March 28, 1995

Thomas W. Sweeney
Director
U.S. Army Military History Institute
Carlisle Barracks, PA 17013

Dear Col. Sweeney:

In 1992, Congress enacted the JFK Records Collection Act for the purpose of gathering in the National Archives all records relating to the assassination of President Kennedy. (I am enclosing a copy of the statute.) The statute created an Assassination Records Review Board to oversee the records collection process, to review records collected by federal agencies, and to identify additional records that relate to the assassination of the President.

Because of your role as a historian with the U.S. Army Military History Institute, our staff would very much like to discuss with you the types of records that were originally generated in the 1960s and the location of those records today.

Either I or Jeremy Gunn of my staff will be in touch with you in the near future to set up a time that will be mutually convenient for discussing such records. I look forward to making your acquaintance.

Sincerely yours,

David G. Marwell
Executive Director

cc: Jeremy Gunn

enclosure

Assassination Records Review Board

600 E Street NW ▪ 2nd Floor ▪ Washington, DC 20530

March 28, 1995

Mark Pinzel
Historian
Naval Oceanographic Office
Bldg. 1002, Stennis Space Center
Bay St. Louis, MS 39529-5000

Dear Mr. Pinzel:

In 1992, Congress enacted the JFK Records Collection Act for the purpose of gathering in the National Archives all records relating to the assassination of President Kennedy. (I am enclosing a copy of the statute.) The statute created an Assassination Records Review Board to oversee the records collection process, to review records collected by federal agencies, and to identify additional records that relate to the assassination of the President.

Because of your role as a historian with the Naval Oceanographic Office, our staff would very much like to discuss with you the types of records that were originally generated in the 1960s and the location of those records today.

Either I or Jeremy Gunn of my staff will be in touch with you in the near future to set up a time that will be mutually convenient for discussing such records. I look forward to making your acquaintance.

Sincerely yours,

David G. Marwell
Executive Director

cc: Jeremy Gunn

enclosure

Assassination Records Review Board

600 E Street NW ▪ 2nd Floor ▪ Washington, DC 20530

March 28, 1995

Kathie Graler
Historian
History and Museum Office
Marine Corps Base Camp Pendleton
Oceanside, CA 92057

Dear Ms. Graler:

In 1992, Congress enacted the JFK Records Collection Act for the purpose of gathering in the National Archives all records relating to the assassination of President Kennedy. (I am enclosing a copy of the statute.) The statute created an Assassination Records Review Board to oversee the records collection process, to review records collected by federal agencies, and to identify additional records that relate to the assassination of the President.

Because of your role as a historian with the History and Museum Office, our staff would very much like to discuss with you the types of records that were originally generated in the 1960s and the location of those records today.

Either I or Jeremy Gunn of my staff will be in touch with you in the near future to set up a time that will be mutually convenient for discussing such records. I look forward to making your acquaintance.

Sincerely yours,

David G. Marwell
Executive Director

cc: Jeremy Gunn

enclosure

Assassination Records Review Board

600 E Street NW ▪ 2nd Floor ▪ Washington, DC 20530

March 28, 1995

Henry Schorreck
Historian
National Security Agency
Center for Cryptologic History (D9)
Fort George G. Meade, MD 20755

Dear Mr. Schorreck:

In 1992, Congress enacted the JFK Records Collection Act for the purpose of gathering in the National Archives all records relating to the assassination of President Kennedy. (I am enclosing a copy of the statute.) The statute created an Assassination Records Review Board to oversee the records collection process, to review records collected by federal agencies, and to identify additional records that relate to the assassination of the President.

Because of your role as a historian with the National Security Agency, our staff would very much like to discuss with you the types of records that were originally generated in the 1960s and the location of those records today.

Either I or Jeremy Gunn of my staff will be in touch with you in the near future to set up a time that will be mutually convenient for discussing such records. I look forward to making your acquaintance.

Sincerely yours,

David G. Marwell
Executive Director

cc: Jeremy Gunn

enclosure

Assassination Records Review Board

600 E Street NW ▪ 2nd Floor ▪ Washington, DC 20530

March 28, 1995

Peter Manning
Historian
U.S. Information Agency
301 4th Street, SW
Washington, DC 20547

Dear Mr. Manning:

In 1992, Congress enacted the JFK Records Collection Act for the purpose of gathering in the National Archives all records relating to the assassination of President Kennedy. (I am enclosing a copy of the statute.) The statute created an Assassination Records Review Board to oversee the records collection process, to review records collected by federal agencies, and to identify additional records that relate to the assassination of the President.

Because of your role as a historian with the U.S. Information Agency, our staff would very much like to discuss with you the types of records that were originally generated in the 1960s and the location of those records today.

Either I or Jeremy Gunn of my staff will be in touch with you in the near future to set up a time that will be mutually convenient for discussing such records. I look forward to making your acquaintance.

Sincerely yours,

David G. Marwell
Executive Director

cc: Jeremy Gunn

enclosure