Dear Peter:

It was a pleasure to finally meet with you at the COPA Conference in Washington. I continue to find your analyses, opinions, asides, and writings stimulating and thought provoking (even when I know you are wrong!).¹ Your ideas are of great assistance to me when I am reviewing the unredacted documents because I am, as are you, trying to figure out the story. It is very important that the records be subjected to a close, textual analysis.

I am sorry I didn't return the enclosed documents to you earlier. I appreciate your lending them to me.

With best wishes,
