Subject: List of names for Michelle Combs

Last Monday, Michelle came to my desk and said that Jeremy had asked her to ask me for a list of names she could give to CIA for the purpose of checking out some specific background information. This is a special list.

I prepared the list based on my reading and experience with documents. Several of the names serve two purposes: To provide more information on individuals who have made various claims or who have had various claims made about them in secondary sources. Or, to provide additional information on individuals whose actions raised certain questions in the context of the document where the name appeared.

Yesterday, Michelle came by with my list. She showed me that Jeremy had crossed out several names with no explanation. Since Jeremy has in the past asked me to identify individuals I wanted to list in requests to the Secret Service, I suspect that he crossed out names he does not recognize.
