

MEMORANDUM

October 12, 1995

To: Phil Golrick
Michelle Seguin

From: Laura Denk

Subject: FBI Presence in Mexico City: 1963

Who was there...

Clark D. Anderson (legal attache)
Mann (ambassador to Mexi)
Peck (special agent in Mexi)

What was going on...

The fact that the "Legal Attache" was really the FBI was not officially disclosed by the Bureau.

Chron

6/62 -- President Kennedy visits Mexico City

Michelle talked to former Ambassador Boonstra on Thursday. He said that the FBI had 27 agents in Mexico City in 1963. There were 1200 embassy employees at the time. Ambassador Boonstra also stated that the FBI was the only agency who had direct communication links to its HQ in Washington. All other American agency personnel had to communicate through the State Department. Carl Valentine told me that the FBI people there would have taken up "embassy slots."