Dear Kevin:

It was nice to see you at lunch. I always hesitate to say where we are on any particular issue, if for no other reason than I might get it wrong. I looked up the Alvin Lewis issue that you raised and found the enclosed document, which shows that we interviewed him in person and that the lead did not pan out. This Lewis project is a good example of how staff resources can be spent pursuing an ostensibly good lead. I also came across another document that may interest you.

Best,

T. Jeremy Gunn
Executive Director
