Dear Ms. Edmiston:

It was a pleasure to speak with you by telephone last Friday afternoon. I hope your trip to New York is productive and fruitful.

From our telephone conversation I understand you have approximately six (6) boxes of your late mother's papers, many of which were assembled during her employment in Jim Garrison's office. You mentioned that you haven't had a chance to review the papers to remove personal and non-relevant items, but that you will try to do so in the next few weeks. We also agreed that after you remove those items, I will meet with you to review the documents and to determine what is relevant as a John F. Kennedy assassination-related record. As I explained, this would include, but is not limited to, handwritten notes, memos, photos, telephone messages, meeting minutes, etc.

Thank you again for taking the time to review the boxes at your earliest convenience. I do not know just when I will next be in New Orleans, but I will contact you as soon as I have a confirmed travel date. We can then arrange a time to meet.

Sincerely,

Anne Buttimer, Esq.

Chief Investigator
