Dear Mr. Waldron:

Since a number of weeks have elapsed since our last telephone conversation concerning a source of information on the west coast, I gather you either did not meet with him as you thought you would or experienced some other change of plans.

I wanted to give your "friend" a chance to contact us on his own, if possible. As that has not worked, will you please send me his telephone number and address, which I understand may now be "old." Nonetheless, I will need it to continue our Congressionally-mandated search for records.

I don't think I ever sent you the Review Board's fact sheet. Please find a copy enclosed. You are welcome to make copies and distribute it to others with an interest in these matters. It is a concise statement of some of what Congress has mandated the Review Board to accomplish.

Thank you for sending this information at your earliest convenience. I look forward to speaking with you soon.

Sincerely,

Anne Buttimer, Esq.
Chief Investigator
