This responds to your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) appeal dated [REDACTED] and received for processing by the Overseas Private Investment Corporation (OPIC) on [REDACTED]. You appealed the following portions of the initial determination:

1. "There was no release of segregable releasable portions in the 'title' field; rather all the 'title' field entries were denied in their entirety. . . .
2. "The document classification field is not properly withheld under the exemptions cited—there is no legitimate reason for this.
3. "The records provided are all dated from 2016. It does not seem credible that all of the contents of the classified inventory ALL date from 2016; that there are no contents of the classified inventory that date before that year.
4. "Furthermore, the numbers of the document begin with 16-0037, which seems unlikely."

The first two points can be grouped together as dealing with the applicability of OPIC's exemptions for withholding and the second two points can be grouped together as dealing with the adequacy of OPIC's search. This determination will first address Points 3 & 4 and then Points 1 & 2. Your appeal is denied in part and granted in part.

OPIC's initial search was inadequate.

Points 3 & 4 of your appeal indicate that you believe OPIC's search was inadequate and that additional records exist because the released Document Control Registry (Registry) began at number 37 and did not contain records from before 2016.

I requested that OPIC's Security Office manually search all containers within the secure room in order to certify that additional pages of the Document Control Registry were not present in the room. Upon their search, additional pages of the FY2016 Registry were located, beginning with number 1, and pages of a FY2014 Registry were also located. No FY2015 Registry was located, however the Director of Security has informed me that to be best of his recollection, the FY2014 Registry had continued in use through FY2015 and a new Registry and numbering system were not started until FY2016. The inclusion of some FY2015 dates on the FY2014 Registry tend to support this usage.

Accordingly, this portion of your appeal is granted.

OPIC can waive the use of Exemption b(5) on some of the information in the Document Title field to release segregable information, however the majority of the withholdings are appropriate.

Your appeal does not dispute the applicability of Exemption b(5) to the information in the Document Title field as explained in the initial determination, rather you appeal the determination that there is no segregable information which can be released. The FOIA requires agencies to release "any reasonably segregable portion of a record" that is left "after deletion of the portions which are exempt." 5 U.S.C. § 552a(b) (2012).

The initial determination held that the redactions were necessary to protect "sensitive information sent to OPIC by another agency for OPIC's knowledge in making agency decisions." I have reviewed the Document Title field and determined that when the underlying data only provides information on the type of document and that the document is classified, this is not sensitive information and need not be withheld. Accordingly I have directed the FOIA Office to re-process the previously released Registry and the newly discovered Registries to segregate and release this information.

On initial determination, all withheld information in the Document Title field was also marked as withheld under Exemption b(6), which protects personal privacy unless it is outweighed by the public interest. Personal privacy cannot be waived by OPIC, however it was used only to withhold the names of individuals. See Dept of the Air Force v. Rose, 425 U.S. 352, 372 (1976). I have directed the FOIA Office to re-process the previously released Registry and the newly discovered Registries to mark only this information with Exemption b(6) to make the redaction markings more accurate.

Accordingly, this portion of your appeal is granted.

OPIC properly withheld the Document Classification field under Exemption b(5), however in light of other withholdings, the application of Exemption b(6) is unnecessary and has been removed.

Point 2 of your appeal addresses all withholdings made to the Document Classification field. The initial determination withheld this information under Exemptions b(5) and b(6), each of which will be addressed separately.

Exemption b(5) incorporates the deliberative process privilege which protects records which are inter or intra agency as well as pre-decisional and deliberative. See Jordan v. Dept of Justice, 591 F.2d 753, 774 (D.C. Cir. 1978) (en banc). The classification level of a document is information OPIC received from another agency and reflects the sensitivity level of the originating agency's advice.¹ The classification level of the advice is an integral part of the advice and other agencies would not be willing to provide this advice to OPIC without the classification labels and protection. Accordingly, protecting this information would go straight to one of the three consistently recognized policy purposes of the deliberative process privilege—encouraging open and frank discussions with decision makers. See Natl Labor Rel'n Bd. v. Sears, Roebuck & Co., 421 U.S. 132, 151 (1975). Exemption b(5) is therefore properly applied to information about the document's classification.

Exemption b(6) is applied when the private interest in keeping personal information private is greater than the public interest in disclosure. Dept of the Air Force v. Rose, 425 U.S. 352, 372 (1976). The only public interest relevant in a b(6) inquiry is the public interest in knowing what the government is up to. Dept of Defense v. Fed. Labor Rel'n Auth., 510 U.S. 487, 497 (1994). Exemption b(6) was applied to both the Document Classification field and the Custodian fields (Custodian Name and Custodian Signature) in order to protect the individuals listed in the Custodian fields. Revealing both data sets together would reveal the security clearance of an individual, however this information would be protected if only one of the two sets were released. Your appeal does not dispute the application of Exemption b(6) to the Custodian fields. As the withholding of the Custodian fields is sufficient to protect the privacy interest, I have directed the FOIA Office to remove Exemption b(6) as grounds for withholding the Document Classification field.

Accordingly this portion of your request is denied in part and granted in part.

Conclusion

Your appeal is denied in part and granted in part. Judicial review is available to you in the United States District Court for the judicial district in which you reside or maintain your principal place of business, or in the District of Columbia.

As part of the 2007 FOIA amendments, the Office of Government Information Services (OGIS) was created to offer mediation services to resolve disputes between FOIA requesters and Federal agencies as a non-exclusive alternative to litigation.
